Master of Science in Counseling

The 24-month continuous Master of Science in Counseling program provides didactic, observational, and supervised clinical experiences to prepare students for Marriage and Family Therapist (MFT) licensure upon their completion of additional state licensing board requirements. (Please consult with the licensing board for the state where you hope to practice for an outline of these requirements as they do vary by state.)

Upon completion of the program, students should embody the theoretical knowledge, self-awareness, clinical skill, and cultural humility necessary to impact the individuals, families, and communities they serve. They will engage in these developmental processes with faculty at KPSAHS as well as clinical supervisors at partnering medical centers, medical offices, counseling centers, and mental health clinics in Northern California.
